United States

Unknown

New York awards 21 clean-energy projects worth $3.7bn

$3.7bn

Investment across 21 projects, NYSERDA

NYSERDA has awarded contracts for 21 large-scale projects, per Construction Review Online. Eight battery-storage projects total 950 MW and 13 solar, wind and hydro projects total 719 MW, together adding 1.7 GW.

PROJECT 1 OF 3 • THE OPPORTUNITY

New York awards 21 clean-energy projects worth $3.7bn

WHO

Owner: NYSERDA (awarding body). EPC: Not named in the report.

OPPORTUNITY FOR

All 21 projects have been awarded and are due online by 2030, but they still have to be built. EPC contractors, storage and renewable equipment suppliers and civil subcontractors should find out who the developers are. The report does not name them.

KEY FACTS

- Projects expected to create more than 1,000 construction jobs
 - Over $127 million in economic benefits to disadvantaged communities
 - PSC approved the $3.26bn, 90-mile Propel NY transmission line on September 17

WHAT TO WATCH

The projects are due online by 2030. Also watch the $3.26bn Propel NY transmission line, which was approved on September 17 and is being built alongside them.

SABIC AN takes FID on SAN-7 ammonia-urea complex in Al Jubail

$3.5bn

EPC contract awarded to Samsung E&A (approx.)

SABIC Agri-Nutrients has taken a final investment decision on SAN-7 in Al Jubail, per BC Insight (CRU). The project adds 1.2 million t/a of ammonia and 2.6 million t/a of urea capacity.

PROJECT 2 OF 3 • THE OPPORTUNITY

SABIC AN takes FID on SAN-7 ammonia-urea complex in Al Jubail

WHO

Owner: SABIC Agri-Nutrients. EPC: Samsung E&A. Licensors: Stamicarbon (MAIRE/Nextchem), thyssenkrupp Uhde.

OPPORTUNITY FOR

The EPC contract is awarded and construction is due to start in Q4 2026. Subcontractors and equipment suppliers should approach Samsung E&A now about work on the ammonia capacity and the two urea units.

KEY FACTS

- Two urea plants using Stamicarbon and thyssenkrupp Uhde technology
 - Nextchem/Stamicarbon NX STAMI urea package valued at €125 million
 - Licensor scope: licensing, Process Design Package and proprietary equipment

WHAT TO WATCH

Start of construction, expected in Q4 2026, per BC Insight.
